Dear

In the fall of 1995 I completed a highly successful internship, and was a serious candidate for an Internship Award. I have just finished my Education degree, graduating in the top 10% of my class.

It has always been my desire to become a teacher. My goal is to be a successful and effective teacher, and to develop an influential rapport with both my students and the community.

My objective is to teach in a Division I or Division II classroom. By virtue of my broad education, student teaching, and my internship experience, I believe I am well prepared, and capable of successfully completing a teaching assignment.

My prior training in Psychology and Native Studies has taught me flexibility, openness, and compassion. These skills helped me to succeed in my internship. They will be extremely valuable to me as I enter the teaching profession and begin to interact with students, their parents, and the community. These skills increase my confidence in my ability to become an effective teacher.

I am enclosing a resumé as well as information on my performance in teacher training and in my internship. I hope to hear from you in the next two weeks. If I have not heard from you within that time, I will call you to see whether it is possible to arrange an interview.

Yours truly,

Maxine Hadubiak, B. A., B. Ed.
